etc. I want to get every word in the file that starts with "devfonts.iwi" and to that word I want to add the word "we" from line 2: Text 1 : I will get every word that starts with "devfonts.iwi" Text 2: I will get every word that starts with "we", from line 2 Output: Text 1 : I will get every word that starts with "devfonts.iwi" Text 2: I will get every word that starts with "we", from line 2 devfonts.iwi we Or maybe I can add the word "devfonts" too: Text 1 : I will get every word that starts with "devfonts" Text 2: I will get every word that starts with "we", from line 2 Text 1 : I will get every word that starts with "devfonts" Text 2: I will get every word that starts with "we", from line 2 devfonts.iwi we A: Try using grep -oP: grep -oP '^.\{4\} devfonts.iwi\b\w*' file.txt -o: outputs only the matching parts of lines -P: enables Perl regex \w* means "any word characters (spaces, digits,...) except newline" ^.\{4\} mean "start of line, 4 dots, 4 more dots" \b means "word boundary" and it's "inside of a word" devfonts.iwi means "start of line, devfonts, iwi", which must be inside of a single word. Explanation ^\.{4} match the "start of line, any 4 dots", and then the "following line is part of a match" (any other character). In this case, I skipped any line with less than 4 dots, as we need at least 4 dots to be able to "fix" the line, no line start with less than 4 dots, then "devfonts.iwi" must be inside of the previous match. \b\w* means "any word character that's followed by any word characters, as many as possible, and we don't need to care if they're in one word 50b96ab0b6
